> In connection with the sale and strike there is a typical mining story. Grennan had given his word that he would turn over his interest for an agreed price and that STOCK COMPANY TO BE FORMhe could remain in charge for a certain number of days. While he was personally in charge of the work the rich strike was made; yet the deal went through as per agreement. Mr. Grennau states that he has no regrets and that in this, as in all cases, his word is as good as his bond.

His reason for selling, he says, was not a lack of confidence in the lease, but that he was not financially strong enough at the time to hold up his end. It involved the purchase of a great deal of lumber, a costly new pump and much other material. The pump arrived and was not the kind ordered, be ing more adapted to sinking a shaft 1000 feet than one of 50 or 60. It has been returned and the old one moved to the upper end of the lease, which is where the strike has since been made, and it is doing the work handsomely.
